

Napkins Needed

By the time John and Kate got to the ball park, their stomachs were growling. They stood in line.

When they finally sat down, they realized they were going to need napkins!

Napkins Needed

By the time John and Kate got to the ball park, their stomachs were growling. They stood in line. They each bought a messy chili-dog. When they finally sat down, they realized they were going to need napkins!